Our Place in History Ormond Beach, Florida

Our Place in History centers around the three men pictured on the front cover. The Anderson-Price Memorial Building was named in memory of John Anderson and Joseph Price, prominent Ormond residents. The settlement, then called New Britain, became known as Ormond in memory of James Ormond I. This book provides annotated and pictorial images of early settlers and their environment.

Children's Book: "Sid and Angela Undercover in Ormond Beach, Florida"

Sid and Angela recently moved to Ormond Beach and have visited Grandma J in Ormond for several years during summer vacations. Both kids set out on adventure after adventure around town as they experience our wonderful past while growing up in Ormond Beach. Summer classes at The Casements leads to many new friendships, positive learning experiences, and of course local adventure, as the "Ormond Kids" grow in numbers throughout the pages of this novel.
